The GFWC Women's History and Resource Center manages the organizational archives of the General Federation of Women's clubs, related special collections, and a complementary research library. Our Archives document GFWC's historical development from 1890 to the present, including the role of GFWC clubwomen in promoting education, leadership, and social & political advocacy in the broad community service program areas.

Special collections held by the WHRC include State Federation & club histories, oral histories, photographs, and art & artifacts. GFWC's most significant artifact is our headquarters in Washington DC which was designated as a National Historic landmark in 1991.

The research library consists of nearly 5,000 publications that focus on the history of GFWC and women volunteers.

Resource Materials

- 2014-2016 GFWC Club Manual - Women's History & Resource Center Advancement Guide
- GFWC web site – www.gfwc.org (click on WHRC tab)
- GFWC web site – Marketplace tab for brochures & pins

How can the WHRC help you and your club?

- Publications: WHRC has resources to assist clubs in recording oral histories of longtime members. There are 2 guides available to help you with the project – A Guide For Recording Oral History that has sample interview questions and A Guide for Preserving and Writing Club History. You are able to download both of these publications from the GFWC website or you may request a free copy from headquarters.
- When planning and publicizing a membership recruitment program, highlight your club's history & Federation history to demonstrate the importance of your club to your community.
- Develop a proactive public awareness program by offering GFWC history stories or tidbits to your local news media for Women's History Month, Federation Day and Archives Month.
- Use the WHRC online catalog to review past GFWC Community Improvement Program Award Winners to gain inspiration and ideas for fundraising and/or community outreach.

How can you & your club support the work of the WHRC?

- Join the Friends of the WHRC
These contributions go toward maintaining the collections and increasing library acquisitions. Donations also fund the purchase of archive materials and supplies.
- Become a 1734 Society Member
These donations support the preservation of GFWC Headquarters.
- Volunteer as a docent at GFWC Headquarters
- Become an onsite or long distance volunteer. They need help digitizing or transcribing audiotapes.
- Promote the WHRC collections, services, and student field study opportunities to local colleges, universities, and historical institution.
- Promote and attend the Women's History Month event held each year at headquarters.
- Purchase an item on the WHRC Wish List.
